Wilson's Plan to Internationalize German Colonies Meets Opposition

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Financial considerations have entered largely into the discussion of the internationalization of the German colonies, which have been generally regarded as the chief asset of Germany, in settling war claims. While Japan has made it clear that she is willing to return the actual territory included in the Kiau-Chow concession to China she desires to retain the German railways, mines and other valuable concessions in Shantung province to reimburse her for war expenses.

Australia has advanced a similar reason for claiming the New Guinea Islands, and New Zealand for claiming Samoa. Japan's claims to the Marshall and Caroline groups are supported on the same grounds, and a similar reason is offered for the actual transfer of the German African colonies to members of the Entente.

China objects to having the concessions which Germany forced from her transferred to Japan in settlement of the war claims of an ally, while it is asserted that President Wilson opposes actual annexation and insists upon the internationalization of all the Pacific and African German colonies. But under an internationalization plan the Entente Powers apparently are unable to see how their claims against Germany would be met, and objection has been raised that if actual transfer of the colonies is not made to certain Powers in settlement of war claims, the chief asset of Germany would be eliminated, as the nation to whose guardianship the colonies was intrusted by the League of Nations could not consider them as its property.
